May 4, 2024

The room was ok, but the room types provided by Ctrip were not complete. One of us thought we had booked a stary sky room, but it was not. After we arrived, we changed to a stary sky room based on the environment, and it cost an extra 400 yuan. Secondly, the attitude of the front desk was really the worst I have ever seen on this earth, no doubt about it!

We are a family of 4 stayed at the Star-gazing geodesic dome for a night. Easy access to all amenities and much less busy inside the camp as new school year started. Staff were friendly and offered help whenever needed. Sweating a lot when we walked from the pier to Sai Yuen, therefore we took Kaito on the way back - good to feel the breeze on the sea with the view of Cheung Chau coastline!

From Tripadvisor

We always booked a tent with a barbecue pit so it was on us for not realizing this specific package didn't come with one, and we already brought all our own raw food. Yet surprisingly when we asked about where to get some extra items, they simply responded with "You should have gotten your own and which was extremely unprofessional.

Furthermore, We kept all our areas tidy and clean and even cleaned after we finished using the services we paid for. Despite this, the last thing they said when we left was to other staff, telling them to check whether we scratched any tables as we were "the family".

Not very cost-effective

A four-person tent that cost 100,000 VND is definitely a wrong choice to come here in summer. Most game facilities are charged separately, and the cost is not low.
